

Spectrum Health, Grand Rapids, Michigan – Priority Health

Spectrum Health found that more people were calling with questions about how much certain procedures cost. This is a result of more people having high-deductible health plans or health savings accounts in which they have direct responsibility for their health care costs. Also, the number of uninsured individuals continues to increase.

The information provided on its website provides a general idea of the prices for common inpatient, outpatient and diagnostic procedures. A final bill from Spectrum Health will vary depending on the actual services provided, existing health conditions that may impact the procedure and specific insurance coverage.
